

Contents

	Preface	page vii
	Introduction – dangerous neighbors: volcanoes near cities	1
1	Too many people and too many volcanoes – Naples, Italy	15
2	A full menu of volcanic hazards – Mexico City	43
3	“Like dangerous, yet undeniably beautiful women” – Guagua Pichincha and Cotopaxi volcanoes near Quito, Ecuador	61
4	Dangerous neighbors, but some bring gifts – Manila megacity, Philippines	73
5	“It’s part of the culture. Live with it!” – cities in Japan	89
6	Volcanic and proud of it – Auckland, New Zealand	113
7	Coffee, software, aircraft, and volcanic mudflows – Seattle, Tacoma, and Portland, USA	127
8	A tale of two cities – Akrotiri (island of Santorini, Greece) and Plymouth (island of Montserrat, Caribbean)	141

9 The dangerous neighbor is restless – how should a city respond? 165

Recommendations for further reading 180

Acknowledgements 181

Index 183

1 Too many people and too many volcanoes – Naples 181

2 A full menu of volcanic hazards – Mexico City 183

3 'Like dangerous, yet undeniably beautiful women' – Gaspar Pichincha and Cotopaxi volcanoes near Quito, Ecuador 183

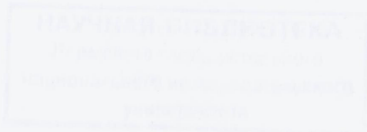

4 Dangerous neighbors, but some bring gifts – Manila, megacity, Philippines 183

5 'A part of the culture' – Live with it? – cities – case studies 183

6 Volcanic and proud of it – Auckland, New Zealand 183

7 Coffee, software, aircraft, and volcanic ash – Seattle, Tacoma, and Portland, USA 183

8 A tale of two cities – Akrotiri (island of Santorini, Greece) and Plymouth (island of Montserrat, the Caribbean) 183

1034327